RETURNS IN STRIKE VOTE ARE POSITIVE

General Motors Employees
Favor Walkout; Chrysler
Vote Polled

(By Associated Press)
Country's labor disputes, most of them continuing, ended last night with 225,000 no change in total in last 24 hours.

Major strike developments:
AUTOMOBILES—Chrysler Corp.'s 125,000 employees in strike vote, second of three polls in CIO United Automobile Workers drive to get 30 per cent wage boost for industry; early returns from ballot by General Motors employees indicate overwhelming majority favor work stoppage; union-company officials, still far from agreement in wage dispute, express hope no strike will be called.

MOTION PICTURES—7,000 movie employees expected back to work by Monday as AFL executive council calls off eight-month-old strike stemming from jurisdictional dispute; union says pickets will return to Warner Brothers pending agreement with studio; loss in wages to workers estimated at $15,000,000.

TRANSPORTATION—Flights by American Airlines between Chicago and New York cancelled by strike of mechanics and maintenance workers in the two cities; CIO union spokesman predicts entire system will be tied up.

STEEL—SKF Industries, Inc., of Philadelphia, sues CIO local for $20,000 damages as result of mass picketing after strike on Oct. 1; troop-sleeper construction halted by walkout of 1,000 workers in Pullman Standard Car Mfg. Co. Hammond, Ind., plant.

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Chrysler Corporation's 125,000 eligible employees were polled on the strike issue today as early returns from similar balloting among General Motors workers indicated an overwhelming majority in favor of a work stoppage.

The Chrysler vote, affecting employees in 22 plants, was the second in the CIO United Automobile Workers' plan to extract a 30 per cent wage increase from all the major car manufacturers.

In the first—among some 325,000 General Motors workers in 97 plants throughout the nation yesterday—a union spokesman estimated 100,000 took part.

First returns from a 4-to-1 affirmative majority in GM's new Detroit division at Bristol, Conn., to more than 20-1 landslide at the big corporation's plants in St. Louis, Atlanta, Ga., and Memphis, Tenn.

Still uncounted were an estimated 50,000 votes in the Detroit area and many others from large union locals.

The Ford Motor Company's 109,000 employees will be polled Nov. 7. While the General Motors voting was in progress, the corporation and the UAW-CIO resumed negotiations, but no break in the wage deadlock was in sight.

Both parties expressed hope, however, that no strike would be called. Walter P. Reuther, union vice president, said "we'll exercise the patience of job in an effort to settle this thing."

HOW RADIO RELAY WILL END TELEGRAPH WIRES

A MICRO-WAVE RADIO RELAY SYSTEM which will eventually eliminate telegraph wires in the sending of telegrams and other messages has been announced as planned by Western Union Telegraph Co. At left is the type of tower which within a few years will dot the American countryside. Towers will be placed about 30 miles apart. Above are two of the new parabolic sending and receiving reflectors which will bounce microwaves from one to another across the nation. In applying for permission to open this system between New York, Washington and Pittsburgh, the company pointed out that it will permit 1080 telegrams to be handled simultaneously. About seven years will be required to complete the system. Estimated cost is reported as $62,000,000. (International)

Oriental Rebellions

By DEWITT MCKENZIE

Foreign Affairs Analyst

IT IS A PITY the United Nations security organization isn't yet functioning, for it might prevent a catastrophe by friendly intervention in the Japanese rebellion against Dutch rule and the similar revolt against France in neighboring French Indo-China.

Perhaps there still is time, if the organization (which came into formal existence yesterday with the ratification of its charter) gets into action soon. That is, there may be time if meanwhile some disinterested mediator can persuade the combatants to declare a truce and maintain the status quo until the United Nations can get to work.

Certainly there's plenty of ground for intervention, since these upheavals already are inflaming other parts of the Orient and thus are endangering general peace. They can't be considered as local "family affairs."

Britain's Gen. Sir Philip Christison, commander of the Allied occupation forces in Java, already has put out feelers with the idea of effecting a compromise between the Dutch and the Japanese nationalists. His position must be difficult, however, because President Soekarno of the so-called "Indonesian republic" has charged that the British are "supporting and butressing the Dutch."

However, Soekarno is quoted as saying that "it may assist a peaceful settlement if the United States of America is willing to intervene—the more if Russia and China also took part in this settlement of the Indonesian problem." Well, the United States government has said that it is ready to mediate if asked to do so. We are waiting for the invitation.

More than incidentally, Secretary of State Byrnes yesterday also made it emphatically clear during a press conference that Washington objects to the use of lend-lease arms for political purposes as they have been employed by British and Dutch forces in the Far East. Washington requested the British and Dutch to remove American emblems from lend-lease equipment used against the insurgents, and this brought prompt word from a foreign office spokesman in London that the British would do so.

State patrolmen said the cars collided as Tavelko pulled out of a private drive into the highway.

Landon Criticizes Nation's Foreign Policy, Hits Russia

(By Associated Press)

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 25.—Criticizing the administration's foreign policy, Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee, said today that if Russia refuses the "proffered hand of the peace-seeking nations, we must not shrink from the tragic fact that a new aggressor is on the prowl."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Kiwanis club, Landon outlined a six-point program which he suggested as the United States' foundation for world security.

"You can't build an international organization for collective security on the quicksilver of vindictive, ruinous and imperialistic settlements that lack any constructive ideas," he said.

Landon's Proposals

The former Kansas governor's proposed program:

1. Make the United States a sound financial mooring post "for the rest of the world to tie to by reversing our present unsound fiscal policies of borrowing and spending unlimited."
2. Reverse the German policies for which the United States largely is responsible. Put Germany on an economic, self-sustaining basis.
3. All nations abandon extra-territorial practices. "The United States should stand in the Far East as advocating in substance what we did in the Philippines where we set the model for colonial treatment and development of self-governing communities."
4. Insist on "honest and intelligent, reasonable" application of the principles of the Atlantic charter before we make any gifts. Follow for the most part Woodrow Wilson's 14 principles for peace.
5. Seriously and thoroughly consider internationalization of the atomic bomb of the few hitherto key spots in the world.
6. If Russia refuses the "proffered hand of the peace-seeking nations, we must not shrink from the tragic fact that a new aggressor is on the prowl."

Only Adds Friction

"Why discuss the policy of appeasement or non-appeasement of Russia?" Landon asked. "Either, on the course we have been pursuing, simply means more friction."

"In addition to the piddling policy of making loans, we are to have the greatest navy, the greatest army, the newest, greatest weapon for a while. All history proves the futility of that policy."

"We are seizing strategic bases in a speak easy sort of way and then wonder why the world should look at us with cynicism and suspicion."

"The race between Russia and the United States to obtain strategic bases is fooling no one but the American people—who are still being doped with soothing syrup that differences between ourselves and Russia is one of language and inexperience in foreign affairs."

Criticizing treatment of Germany, Landon said, "we will not stabilize the world as long as we push the basic error of the ghastly insane Morgenthau plan in the treatment of Germany. . . . No nation has ever been taught democracy with a bayonet."

Since August 900 discharges have been recorded. Last Friday was the largest day on record when 70 certificates of discharge were presented for record.

In addition to the 900 papers which have been recorded, the office has on hand 100 more which have not had time to process.

The President will tour miles of city streets and attend a Navy day celebration in Central park. Some 2,000 Bluejackets, Marines, Waves and Coast Guardsmen will escort him.

He will board the battleship Missouri for luncheon with Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet. At 3:30 p. m., he will board the destroyer Renshaw, veteran of almost two years' fighting in the Pacific.

While 1,200 Navy fighter and bomber planes roared overhead for two hours, the presidential destroyer will steam past the mighty armada lined up in the Hudson river.

The President returns to Washington by train at 5:45 p. m.

SENATE CUTS MORE FROM TAX PROGRAM

Multi-Billion Revenue Reduction Bill In Conference Stage

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The senate's $5,788,000,000 tax reduction bill, fundamentally different from the $5,350,000,000 measure passed by the house, headed today for a conference committee which will adjust the variations.

The senate yesterday added another $155,000,000 of relief, then passed the bill.

The senate bill proposes to relieve individual income taxpayers by $2,644,000,000 next year, corporations by $2,934,000,000, and owners of automobiles and boats by $140,000,000 through repeal of the use tax.

It also would repeal $70,000,000 in excise taxes, on such things as stoves, cameras and sporting goods, imposed in 1941 to discourage the use of scarce materials.

The house bill called for cutting taxes on individuals by $2,627,000,000, corporations $1,888,000,000, car and boat owners $140,000,000, and excise taxes $695,000,000, through repeal of the wartime levies on luxury and semi-luxury products and through refund of the tax on floor stocks of liquor and light bulbs.

After the house goes through the formality of rejecting the senate changes, the house and senate conference committee will get together—probably Friday—to work out the final form.

Internal revenue officials would like by Nov. 1 so they can prepare revised withholding tables and tax plans to offices.

"The tax cut would apply to next year's income; the tax bill in this year's income will be figured on present law."

The senate bill is estimated to reduce the burden $2,644,000,000, the house bill $2,627,000,000.

Smucker Left Farm And Succeeded In Apple Butter Trade

(By Associated Press)

ORRVILLE, Oct. 25.—Jerome M. Smucker, who went into the apple butter business in 1887 because he "didn't like the farm," is now the apple butter king of America.

"I just naturally grew up with this business and yet it was chance that made me realize the possibilities of it," the 87-year-old president of the J. M. Smucker Co. said.

After finishing school, he recalled, "I went into the creamery business. It was new at that time. I got several teams and collected cream from the farmers and made it into butter, which was marketed in Cleveland and New York."

"But I didn't like the farm and I got ruminating from being in the damp so much. So I bought an up-to-date cider mill, which pressed out more juice than ordinary mills."

"The first year the farmers got so much cider from their apples that they sold me back some of it and I used it to make 1,000 gallons of apple butter, which was put up in gallon and half-gallon stone jars. I sold some to grocers and peddled the rest in a wagon here in Wayne county."

"Well, each year the demand for apple butter was greater. So I installed modern equipment and gradually increased the plant."

"If I had the chance to be young again and do it all over again I wouldn't want to. Present times are the best. And I am content."

Smucker's plant here ships nearly two carloads of apple butter, in addition to many cases of other preserves, every day. The recipe used is one handed down from his grandfather. The company also operates branch plants in Salem, O., and Wenatchee, Wash.

LOWER POINTS ON BUTTER, OILS TO EIGHT ON SUNDAY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The OPA announced today that ration values on butter, margarine, lard, shortening and oils would be cut four points a pound next Sunday.

For all of these products the new value, effective through Dec. 1, will be eight points a pound.

Current point costs will be maintained during the new period for all prime cuts of beef, veal and lamb and for lean cuts of pork. Lower grades of beef, veal and lamb will continue ration-free.

The only meat changes are reductions of two to four points a pound for fatty pork cuts and for barbecued pork.

The point reductions for butter, margarine and other fats and oils are possible because of a much improved supply situation, said OPA Administrator Chester Bowles.

Army Releases Butter

There will be about 12 per cent more butter in November than during this month, chiefly because of release of 80,000,000 pounds by the army, Bowles said. Lard supplies are expected to be up about 39 per cent from heavier marketing of hogs.

Over-all meat supplies next month will be about one half of one per cent less than in October and "therefore . . . do not permit the end of rationing," the OPA chief said.

The seasonal run of hogs to market is expected to boost the pork supply about 41 per cent. The domestic supply of beef, veal and lamb will be down because of foreign requirements, said an Agriculture department official.

Meat set-asides were re-instated recently to assure fulfillment of foreign commitments.

The fat cuts of pork assigned lower point values include backs, plates, jowls, and bacon remains and jowls. Regular bacon remains at six points a pound.

Five more stamps in ration book four will become valid Nov. 1 for buying meats and fats. These include the last four red stamps—W1, X1, Y1 and Z1—and green stamp N8, the top-right coupon on the last sheet of green stamps remaining in Book 4.

If rationing continues in December, five more green stamps will be validated the start of that month, OPA said.

The drive will be closed at a final meeting of captains and co-workers at the Memorial building Monday evening.

Purpose of Directive, Issued by MacArthur, Is Not Revealed

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 25.—Gen. MacArthur today ordered Japan to sever relations with all foreign governments and to turn over its diplomatic properties and papers throughout the world to the Allied powers.

The order, issued "by direction of the Allied powers," told the Japanese government to recall "immediately" its diplomatic and consular representatives home from neutral countries.

Purpose of the order, other than the apparent one of revealing to the Allies all Japan's diplomatic and consular secrets, was not disclosed. It came to MacArthur from the joint chiefs of staff at Washington.

Official explanation for the drastic order was not immediately available from Washington sources.

The directive followed criticisms from Moscow to the effect that with the demobilization of Japan's armed forces, the occupation policies in the conquered nation should be directed by a four-power control commission instead of by MacArthur.

Prince To Renounce Titles

Domel news agency reported that Prince Fumimaro Konoye, royal career statesman and youngest of Japan's senior statesmen, would renounce all titles and court privileges so he could take part in politics as a private citizen.

Konoye was prevailed upon by Marquis Kichiro Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal, to delay his action until work on revision of the constitution is finished, Domel said.

The action might indicate Konoye has determined to accept General MacArthur's suggestion, which was reported last Sunday that the three-time premier head the liberal political movement in Japan.

The agency, quoting what it termed reliable sources, said Konoye, with relinquishment of his title, would accept full responsibility for his part in Japan's war period.

Conferences with Japanese Christian leaders will be sought by a delegation of American Protestant churchmen who have arrived in Tokyo on a goodwill mission.

Church Mission

The delegation included Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk, New York, executive secretary, department of international justice and good will of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, who explained: "We were sent to Japan by the churches of our country, not by the government. It is to the churches we shall report following our return to the United States."

Domel today quoted Sankuro Ogasawara, Japan's minister of commerce and industry, as saying the government plans to introduce an anti-trust bill, comparable to the Clayton act in the United States, at the next session of the diet.

Ogasawara said the bill would be part of a program to achieve dissolution of the zaibatsu (giant family owned monopolies).

NEW FORD SHOWING PLANNED FRIDAY

Showing of the first new automobile in Salem since the fall of 1941 will take place tomorrow at the H. I. Hine Motor Co., W. State st., when the 1946 Ford will go on display.

The new Ford features a complete new body styling, a 100-horsepower engine, and complete new interior designing.

Hine, local Ford dealer, says the car is "completely new and not a face-lifted 1942 model, as many people seem to believe."

The car being shown here is a super deluxe two-door sedan.

EMPLOYMENT BILL STALLED

President Is Expected To Request Renewed House Action

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Congress got ready today for a White House prod for action on the stalled Full Employment bill.

The head of the house committee where the bill has been lodged since it passed the senate, Lardner Manasco of Alabama, had a summons to see President Truman.

Legislators felt the President intends to "go to bat" for the measure. Manasco and his committee haven't viewed the idea with much favor so far.

But it's a key part of the President's reconversion program. It would set a policy; federal work projects when private employment fails to supply jobs for all willing to work.

A quick look under Capitol dome also showed:

Armed Forces—Out of the argument over merging Army and Navy it seems plain, at least, an Air Force separate from both is on the way.

Four members of the senate military committee feel sure of it. They're Senators Edwin Johnson of Colorado, Lister Hill of Alabama and Joseph O'Mahoney, all Democrats, and Republican Warren Austin of Vermont.

They say even if the merger idea fails congress will give air power equal status with land and sea forces. All three branches under the merger would be under a single government department. Air would be distinct from Army and Navy.

Liquor Agents Plan Seizure of Slots

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—All slot machines found on the premises of liquor permit holders in the future will be confiscated by the State Department of Liquor Control, it was announced today after a conference between Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Liquor Director Robert M. Sohngen.

The governor said he was informed the gambling devices had not been confiscated in numerous cases involving revocation of licenses for possession of the machines.

Sohngen emphasized the recent "unfreezing" of beer, wine and private club permits did not mean additional licenses would be issued indiscriminately.

"Extreme caution" will be exercised by the liquor department and all applications for permits will be thoroughly investigated, the director said. He added that no permits would be authorized in areas where the public's alcoholic beverage needs already were provided for adequately.

Only The Strong Can Be Free.

President Truman, as he was expected to do, has opened a full-dress public debate on the nation's postwar security by recommending a comprehensive program of military training for American men from 18 to 20.

The President's case is based squarely on the fundamental proposition of security in 1945 and for all time to come—that new implements of mechanized warfare have destroyed "geographical security" and the void must be filled by the United States with measures of preparedness hitherto considered, unnecessary.

The means proposed by Mr. Truman are those submitted recently by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, in his report to the secretary of war. They consist of a trained civilian reserve, a strengthened National Guard and a relatively small professional force. Beyond that, they consist of all known means of maintaining the highest possible potentialities of military strength in terms of industrial production, national health, economic resiliency, scientific alertness and international information.

At the outset of the debate, unfortunately, there is danger that our preoccupation with the issue over military training may exclude proper attention to these other things without which the nation cannot be prepared. At the beginning of World war II, France had an abundance of trained manpower, but had almost none of the other things needed to make its manpower effectual in an emergency. More military training is not enough.

The proposition submitted by President Truman will be subject in the forthcoming national debate over postwar military policy to two kinds of rebuttal.

The first kind is already familiar. It will employ the same arguments used in 1919-20—arguments that stressed everything which was calculated to weaken the case for military training. It will be pointed out that there is no likely enemy in sight, that there already are great numbers of young men trained in the art of war and that to adopt military training during negotiations for cooperative security would amount to a denial of faith in world peace. There will be the same appeals to the traditional reluctance of Americans to permit anything to interfere with their traditional freedom as individuals. There will be, no doubt, objections to the high cost of military training and the possibility of undue domination by government over the minds of impressionable youth. This type of rebuttal is obvious and temptingly easy to use; it springs naturally from the emotions.

The second type of rebuttal will be less popular and may be ignored. It attempts at least to be logical and to present an alternative to the specific proposition of the debate. Instead of concentrating on what is wrong with that proposition, it goes beyond destructive criticism and presents a constructive alternative.

It aims to give the nation a choice between two affirmative proposals, instead of between one proposal to do something and another proposal to do nothing. That was the great error the United States made after World war I, when it rejected all major proposals to do something affirmative about its own and international security and then settled down complacently in the belief that nothing would happen because it had decided nothing could happen. It is forgotten now, but if anyone had suggested in 1920 that in two decades the nations would be embroiled in another and greater war than the one just ended the suggestion would have been considered absurd.

Our choice in 1945 and the years immediately ahead is not between preparedness to acquit ourselves of the responsibilities earned by America's part in destroying the latest plot to conquer the world and lack of preparedness. There must be no illusions about that. The decision is not between something and nothing. It is between something and something else. President Truman, drawing on the acknowledged expertise of Gen. Marshall, has submitted a plan. The only legitimate purpose of the debate thus precipitated is to decide between the government's recommendations and some other recommendations. Those with nothing to offer but destructive criticism have no right to be in the debate at all. They have no plan for the United States other than a plan of doing nothing.

The United States is about to decide what it intends to do about the momentous events that have delivered it into the greatest potential destiny ever reached by a civilization. We can accept our obligations and prepare to fulfill them. Or we can deny them again, as we did 25 years ago, and await the ultimate attempt of some lesser power or combination of powers to take advantage of our weakness. Vastly more than the question of military training is going to be answered; it is only one part of the greater question of what America will do with its responsibility as the strongest single member of the United Nations.

The Dissent Is Valid

Admiral King has joined Secretary of the Navy Forrestal in his dissent from the plan for a single secretary of national defense. Both declare that the professed purpose of unifying control of the Army and Navy can be served better by a refinement of the consultative system used during the war.

Secretary Forrestal specifically proposes a national security council to integrate policies, but retention of the present civilian secretaries holding cabinet rank. The council would have four members—the two civilian secretaries of the War and Navy departments, the secretary of state and a fourth member, who would be chairman of a new body to be known as the "national resources board". The council would act, in effect, as a committee.

The Navy's dissent is valid, however unpopular it may be. It will pick up support, in all probability, from those who find merit in the argument that no individual is capable of taking responsibility for administration of all phases of national defense. David Lawrence, editor of United States News, has written in that magazine that "the device for the potential militarization of America is the newly proposed single department of national defense . . . on the basis of what has been brought out thus far, the scheme looks dangerously as though the heroics of militarism are being used to foist upon the American people at a vulnerable moment in their psychology a system of militaristic thinking which is incompatible with our history and our traditions".

The public's interest lies, of course, wholly in the promise of more efficiency and less cost from a reorganization of the armed services. This might be done in any one of many ways. It is significant at the moment that there is disagreement only about conflicting proposals for improvement. No one is claiming any more that the arrangement existing at the time of Pearl Harbor, or even the arrangement worked out during the war, was satisfactory.

The Stars Say

For Friday, October 26.

A LIVELY and exciting day is this but not satisfactory and profitable in which shrewd and swift action may save the day. It is advisable to adhere to accepted ways and means of straightforward and honorable tactics, shunning extravagance, rash and indulgent excesses or plunges, either in business or personal extremes.

Be alert to kind words and deeds in all contacts under emotional impulses. Publicity, advertising, communications, all writings should prosper.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a live year, with commotion and change, this in connection with writings, publishing, agencies or travel. But there is danger from over-spending on either personal or business outlay or extravagance. Shun gambling and reckless expenditure, and also shun rash words and deeds under pressure of emotional excitement. Preserve quiet and harmony in the home.

A child born on this day may be active and talented but disposed to be lavish in its expenditures and perhaps to recognize expediency rather than to follow principle and propriety.

A hosiery manufacturer predicts every American woman can count on slightly less than eight pairs of full-fashioned hosiery next year. The girls will be glad to settle for seven pairs and some bobby socks.

The Japs have asked permission to import 120,000 tons of oil from the United States. As far as we can see, things are running pretty smoothly right now.

It's no wonder the Argentine situation goes around in circles. One revolution after another!

Would 'Weed Out' Toughs At State Industrial School

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25. — Welfare Director Frazier Reams proposed today creating a "junior jail" for tough boys now mingling with younger and more redeemable fellows at the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster.

The present school, he told reporters, could be kept as a sort of "Boys' State or Boys' Town" for youths who could be rehabilitated through moral suasion and by giving them some responsibility for the conditions under which they lived.

"As it is now," he said, "more or less mature boys of 17 or so are there some of them already on the way to becoming hardened criminals but too young for sending to the Mansfield reformatory. They are not fit company for the kids who may have made some mistakes but can be turned into good citizens quickly."

Reams said that some institution with a fence around it and easy to police was needed for boys who showed that they could not be trusted with any degree of self-direction. Prospect of return to the school type of institution could be held out as a reward for good behavior, he explained.

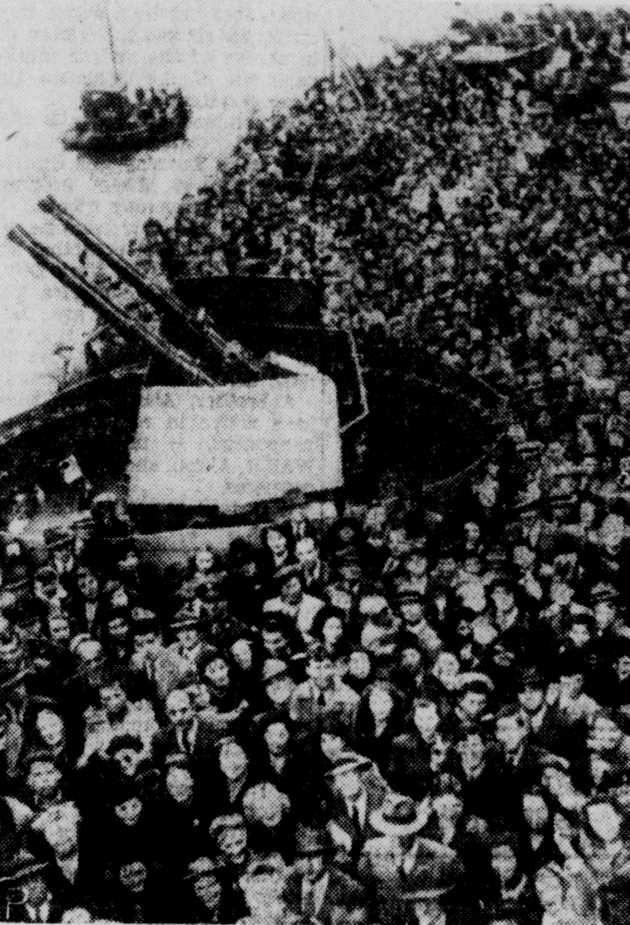

Earlier this week, Leonard W. Mayo, dean of the Western Reserve University School of Applied Social Science and president of the Child Welfare League of America, called the B.I.S. "one of the most scandalous examples of poorly operated institutions in the United States."

While Reams did not comment directly on Mayo's assertion, he said conditions of the school had improved considerably this year under Ralph W. Alvis, acting superintendent pending the return of Harold Hayes from the army.

"We're still trying to work things out to a better system," Reams said.

Reams added, however, that he had not worked out any concrete proposal for presentation to the legislature or Gov. Lausche.

Covered Bridges In County On Way Out

County Engineer Charles O. Snyder said today that one of five covered bridges in Columbiana county will be replaced by the state highway department next year.

"It will not be many years before there will be no covered bridges in Columbiana county," Snyder said.

"The covered bridges have withstood the ravages of time, and were well constructed. Beams were made fast by wooden pins, but when we now repair one of these bridges, we use steel bolts.

Two of the bridges, however, are on private property, but maintained because of a traffic lane."

In Teaching Little Girl Grooming, Give Her Her Own Toiletries Set

By ALICIA HART

The time to train a little girl in the habit of personal fastidiousness—the most exquisite quality she can possess when she grows up—is NOW.

Wise mothers say: "Begin as soon as your daughter is old enough to brush her teeth and hair, scrub her fingernails, floss with a wash cloth, and have little hands with lotion when she comes in from play."

One, in particular, who's talking is the mother of seven-year-old movie star Betty Sue Simmons, better known as "Little Bug Nose," who will soon meet her public in "Frontier Gal."

Practicing what she preaches, Mrs. Beverly Simmons is training Betty Sue in a routine which exalts her personal fastidiousness by applying her with her own toilet articles, a big step toward the goal this mother says. Giving a child her own clothes chest, and insisting that she keep the contents tidy, is still another step, says Mrs. Simmons.

Her tip-off on what it takes to bolster a little girl's pride in a

AMERICAN PLANS ON HOUSING DRAW WORLD ATTENTION

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The war's end has precipitated the world into a global housing crisis with the United States the only unscarred nation remaining to lend the rebuilding program, according to Jacob Crane of National Housing agency.

Crane reported 26 nations have sent their housing experts to study United States planning during the past two years in preparation for a postwar building program. More are on the way, with Belgium and France planning to open housing study offices in this country. Great Britain has had such an office for some time, Crane said. Crane explained these agencies have a dual function of gathering ideas and of purchasing construction materials.

He said visiting experts are interested in United States methods of construction and financing, floor planning, materials, and statistical research.

Crane believes the United States has seized the lead in housing as in many industries partially because war halted construction in almost every other country.

Based On British

He acknowledged that the United States public housing system is based on the British and that Russian city planning is greatly advanced. He said the United States has borrowed ideas from these countries as well as from other progressive nations like Sweden and Brazil. "It's a fair exchange," he reported.

Crane predicted postwar housing will emphasize individual homes rather than apartment buildings and group projects wherever possible. Britain, Belgium and the Netherlands, he feels, will probably continue to build many terrace or row type dwellings.

Crane's predictions indicated no great revolution in construction materials. He said Belgium and France will continue using brick and tiles as formerly.

Noting that war-devastated countries are interested in both temporary and permanent buildings, Crane suggested that the United States developed "land utilities" project could be adapted as a temporary measure in temperate climates where the housing situation is acute.

Slum Clearance

United States housing experts introduced "land utilities" projects in Puerto Rico as a slum clearance method during the war when construction materials were unavailable. Land was cleared, divided into plots, and provided with sanitary facilities. Squatters and slum dwellers were then allowed to build their own mobile shacks on the site.

Crane pointed out that it is the general housing program that inter-ish commander in Java had been instructed to comply.

The American attitude was further pungently clarified last week when Washington sharply reminded the powers concerned in the Oriental disturbances that they should prepare their peoples for self-government. That certainly is the call of the times, but one wonders how long it will take the world to learn it.

We fought the First World War to ensure self-determination and to make our globe safe for democracy. Millions of gallant men died to make President Woodrow Wilson's fourteen points come true. I was attached to British general headquarters in France as war correspondent, and as I went up and down the great war front British soldiers used to come to me to inquire anxiously what was the latest word from the White House. They were fighting for the ideals which Wilson had proclaimed.

And still peoples argue the question with guns and bombs. If the sleep-walkers don't wake up, and pull up their socks, they will head into a third world war shortly—and that will be the last one.

Of course, it's only fair to note that old empires can't be dissolved overnight. If the imperial powers see the writing on the wall, and move promptly towards granting their subjects sovereignty, then they will be keeping pace with the times.

As this column remarked a few days ago, Britain has recognized this principle by establishing the British commonwealth of nations, comprised of sovereign dominions. Holland also is swinging into line with a promise of self-rule to In-

Woman Is Found Slain At Lorain

LORAIN, Oct. 25.—The body of Mrs. Stella Duffield, 24, was discovered early today lying on the blood-soaked front seat of her car shortly after a Lorain High school student told police he saw a man force a woman into a car on a downtown Lorain street, shoot her and drive away in the car.

Police said Harry Siegfried, 17, told them that as the woman walked from a confectionery a man grabbed her, threw her into the automobile and shot her.

The man then drove off, the youth told officers. Siegfried said he yelled to a taxi cab driver who started to chase the car but ran into a tree two blocks away.

An hour later the car was found on a rural road off state Route 611.

Mrs. Duffield's husband, Paul, 30, was reported on his way home after an extended tour of duty in the Navy.

WILDLIFE REFUGE TO BE IMPROVED

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Thousands of wild geese that every year fly over northern Ohio soon will be able to easily spot the 2,200-acre wild life refuge in Erie county.

The Conservation commission yesterday voted to develop the refuge and said one of the first jobs undertaken would be removal of overhanging cottonwood trees that hide the grounds. The project also includes construction of an observation tower for visitors to watch the geese as they rest.

The commission also announced these other decisions:

1. Set Dec. 13 for the annual public fish hearing.

2. Adopt a policy establishing belts of public land at least 300 feet around all recreational lakes built and restricting commercial enterprises from the belts.

3. Voted to help the Ohio grange erect a memorial at the entrance to a shelter house at East harbor honoring the late Walter Kirk, grange master.

4. Appropriated $2,500 for increasing game cover at Rest Haven; $3,600 to develop the 1,200-acre Waterloo game preserve and $4,500 for the 2,072-acre Trumble game preserve, both in Athens county; $6,000 for the Brush Creek wild life restoration unit of 1,629 acres in Jefferson county, and $2,000 for the 1,457-acre Willard marsh refuge in Huron county.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

BATAVIA, Java — Nightclubbing in riot-torn Java is like spending a party evening in the Lone Star saloon back in goldst days of the American wild west.

You can expect anything from brass knuckles to Mickey Finns, and if your only souvenir is a hangover you can figure you came out ahead.

Batavia's nightclub proprietors haven't got around yet to using canal water in their drinks. The most popular concoctions are a skull-cracking brandy that appears to have been distilled from Japanese pine-needle gasoline, and a curious cocktail mixer with equal parts of cherry flavoring, saccharine and some high-voltage ingredient that smells like mothballs soaked in vinegar and coconut juice.

When these two brews are indiscriminately mixed in the stomachs of Java's cosmopolitan nightclub set, brawl ensue which make this island's daytime struggles for independence from Dutch rule look like an ordinary lodge election.

There is only one war in the daytime—that's more or less between the natives and the Dutch. But at night! You can choose from the role of bystander—but you half a dozen wars among many nationalists. The wise man plays have to be fast on your feet.

At present only two real nightclubs are open. The third, which catered largely to Japanese soldiers off duty, had to turn itself into a "day club" to save its remaining fixtures from demolition.

The remaining nightclubs are at Barbary coast level in quality and Stork club level in price. They feature dim, colored lights, tinpan orchestras and both white and Eurasian "common" girls hired for their ability to drink customers under the table.

Their clientele consists of former Dutch internees, Eurasians, British soldiers and sailors and American merchant seamen, a few local tired businessmen and wealthy natives and a number of castaway German submarine crewmen. It is a highly explosive mixture.

One Japanese soldier made the mistake of trying to attend a nightclub with a native girl. Although he was wearing civilian clothes his identity was discovered and the mob descended upon him without any reference to his rights under the Potsdam declaration. He was beaten to the consistency of amber jelly, then picked up spread-eagle and tossed out into the night in the general direction of Tokyo.

Three blond, tough-looking German submariners at the other night club on the same embattled evening got off more easily. They were in shirtsleeves at the bar, drinking alone. When a group of American and English sailors learned they were Nazis they muscled over and invited them to leave. The Germans sneered and started to make an issue of the matter, but after a quick glance at the opposition, Hans, Fritz and Hermann tossed down their drinks and edged out the back door.

With no one else to fight, the American and British exchanged congratulations, and a few drinks later started throwing fists among themselves.

"It's a quiet evening," said the Russian lady bartender who referees these encounters to the extent of summoning medical aid for the victims. Because of her nationality she escaped internment during the war, but got slapped around a few times by the Japanese. She hates the Germans, too, however, and acts as a "finger lady" whenever a Japanese or German enters.

"Throw them out," she whispers, and rubs her fat, diamonded fingers gleefully when the Japanese or German goes sailing out to land on his ear on the curbstone. First, of course, she takes the precaution of collecting for his drinks.

"I could stand Germans—but never Japs—not those monkey men," she says. "They sound like pigs when they eat. They eat soup like this—" (She purses her plump lips and makes a noise like a cow wading across a sticky pasture).

Over in the corner a native piano player ticks out the St. Louis Blues—he gets $15 a month—and everybody sits back and waits for the next fight.

Five Bowlers Have Won ABC Singles Title In First Tries

Thousands of bowlers, who have never competed in an American Bowling Congress tournament, are taking stock of their chances to win prize checks in the coming Buffalo classic, which starts March 14.

Hardened ABC veterans can point out to these newcomers that five bowlers have won the singles championship in their first tournament.

The first to do this was Carl Baumgartner, 21-year-old Cincinnati youngster, who picked out the 1923 tournament at Milwaukee for his first big league trial. He finished with a 277 game for 724 and the title.

In 1934 Jerry Vidro of Grand Rapids, Mich., pulled the greatest form reversal in the history of the championship in his first ABC, when he shot 491 in the team event, 494 in the doubles and then appear to even be in the running with games of 234 and 222. But opened the individuals with games of 243 and 277 for a 520 "start". He made the grandstand fans groan when, after counting four strikes, he committed two errors. But he managed to keep going and a double in the tenth put him over the top with 201 and a 721 total for the title.

In 1936 Charles Warren of Springfield, Ill., became the third man to join the select circle. He pounded 735 in his first singles event in the ABC with games of 276, 245 and 214.

Ray Brown of Terre Haute, Ind., showed no signs of becoming the 1940 singles champion when he rolled 521 in the team event and 494 in the doubles. But he was a different bowler when he started the singles. After opening with four spares he finished with five strikes for 231. Then in the second game he strung up eight strikes, got a spare and struck out for 278. Two doubles and a turkey in the finale earned him 233 for 742 and the crown.

One more "first time out" champion appeared. He was 28-year-old Fred Ruff of Belleville, Ill., who despite the fact that he was a 195 average bowler, had never attended an ABC tournament until he went to St. Paul in 1941.

Totals of 606 and 596 in the team and doubles events indicated that he was steady. It was a good thing he was, for 10 alleys away the veteran Eddie Hitch of Erie, Pa., had title aspirations and they staged a brilliant duel.

Ruff opened with two games of 258 each while Hitch did not everyone soon knew different for Hitch started his third game with seven strikes in a row. At that stage the title was in his grasp, but on the eighth ball the 10 pin stuck. He converted it into a spare and struck out for 279 and 735, good for fourth place.

Ruff meanwhile was going along as though pressure meant nothing to him. He struck out from the ninth frame for four in a row for a 229 game and 745. The first to shake his hand was Eddie Hitch. Thus a sticky 10-pin contrived to shut off the championship rush of Hitch, allowing fate to play its dramatic role by allowing Ruff, the lad taking in his first ABC tournament, to win the title.

In 19 of the tournaments from 1923 to 1941, five singles championships went to men competing in their first ABC trials.

Ohio-Minnesota, Purdue-Northwestern Ready

TWO GAMES ARE KEY ONES IN BIG TEN TROUBLES THIS WEEK, BUCKS SEEK REBOUND

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Midwest football fans will have their eyes on Minneapolis and Evanston, Ill., this weekend to see whether games between Ohio State and Minnesota and Purdue and Northwestern will bring any changes in the Big Ten conference leadership.

Indiana still has something to say about the 1945 title, but the Hoosiers, with three Conference wins, no losses and one tie, do not swing back into Conference competition again until Nov. 10 when they tackle Minnesota.

Purdue, after its 35-13 triumph over Ohio State last week, meets a potentially dangerous Northwestern team in the fourth successive Big Ten engagement for the undefeated and untied Bollersmakers.

Coach Isbell indicated yesterday he would stand pat on the same lineup that snared a 22-0 half time lead over Ohio State before the Buckeyes had registered their initial first down. Northwestern, at top physical strength for the first time this season, spent considerable time on offensive blocking.

Biermen Work Out

The undefeated Minnesota Gophers (1-0) went through a long workout after which Coach Bernie Bierman took the players inside the fieldhouse for a chart study of Ohio State plays.

Around other Midwest camps: Halfbacks, Bob Nussbaumer and Henry Fonde stood out yesterday as Michigan went through its last hard drill for its game with Illinois at Champaign. Coach Ray Eliot said two Freshmen would start for Illinois against the Wolverines.

Notre Dame's squad put new pep into preparations for the Iowa game, bolstered by the return of Fred Earley, halfback on the 1943 national championship Irish squad, who recently resigned from the Naval academy. Iowa went through long defensive drills, with Quarterback Jerry Niles doing most of the passing.

Hoosiers Ready

Indiana concentrated on the passing of Ben Raimondi in preparation for Tulsa. Four injured Wisconsin players—Ends Ray Mals, Hal Haberman and Jack Mead, and Quarterback George Fuchs—rejoined the squad.

Coach Tom Stidham juggled his Marquette university lineup seeking replacements for injured End Dick Sherrer, Tackle Ed Castans and Guard Al Jancukaus. The Hilltoppers meet Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday. Michigan State's backfield was bolstered by the return of Bob Ludwig who was injured in the Michigan game.

MASSILLON TEAM TO STOP IN SALEM

Massillon High school Tigers—proceeding to their battle with the Warren Harding Presidents in Warren Friday—will stop at the Metzger hotel, 55 strong, Friday afternoon for a rest period, pre-game dinner and will return there after the game for an evening meal. Cots are being put up in the rear of the hotel to accommodate the Tiger gridgers, J. C. Harshman, hotel manager, said.

Massillon hasn't been beaten this season, but has been tied twice, once by Canton Lincoln and another time by Steubenville.

Canton Bouts Set

CANTON, Oct. 25.—Lightweights Eddie Belle of Canton and George Gervis of Cleveland will meet in the four-round feature bout of an amateur boxing show here Monday. Elijah Lipkins of Canton, a sharppunching featherweight, will battle Buddy Williams of Cleveland in a four-round semi-final.

KEO NAKAMA BACK TO ISLANDS WELL SATISFIED, HAPPY

Considered World's Best Swimmer, But Wanted To Play Ball

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Keo Nakama, a little Hawaiian who wanted to be a baseball player but turned out to be one of the Nation's top swimmers, headed for his home islands today, his competitive swimming career ended, but carrying a haul of Big Ten, NCAA and National AAU championships.

Keo, a modest 25-year-old 135-pounder described by his Ohio State university coach, Mike Peppe, as "the greatest mile swimmer in the history of the game," left here by plane at 1 a. m. He will take a boat from San Francisco and then, back in Hawaii for the first time in more than four years, will become baseball and swimming coach at Honolulu's Farrington High school. When the island post-war athletic program is complete he's scheduled to become coordinator of swimming.

As such, he said yesterday "I sure hope I can bring a team to the States."

A Host of Titles

When Keo finished up his competitive swimming career in the Men's National AAU meet at Akron last summer he had six Big Ten crowns to his credit, four National Collegiate Athletic titles and nine National AAU championships. And that from a fellow who says he started swimming in competition just because he wanted to see Honolulu. He lived on Maui and he had never been to Honolulu until he went as a swimmer back in 1937 when he was only 17. He whipped Ralph Gilman, one of America's better swimmers, in a 500-yard event and from then his career was swimming instead of baseball.

He competed in the AAU at Louisville in 1938; went to South America in 1939 with the All-America team and then came back to enter Ohio State, finish a four-year course in three years and take his master's degree. He has been swimming since he was 10, learning in irrigation ditches near his home and by walking or hitchhiking four miles to the ocean. He hasn't seen his parents and two brothers since 1941.

Tug O' War Due At Game Tonight

A battle of battles—a tug 'o war between the Freshmen and Sophomores of Salem High school—will be an all-important feature between the halves of the Salem-Girard football game at Reilly stadium at 7:45 tonight.

The teams were picked from the two physical education classes taught by Fred Cope.

Cope hopes to make the battle an annual affair.

BARONS LOSE 7-2 TO PITTSBURGH

Take Second Defeat In Five Games; Still Without a Win

CLEVELAND, Oct. 25.—The Cleveland Barons were convinced today that defense of the American Hockey league title was a king-sized task.

The victoryless defending champions were smothered 7 to 2 last night by the undefeated Pittsburgh Hornets in a wild skirmish on Steel City ice. The Barons have lost two games and tied three.

Wally Wilson and Bob Walton fired two goals each to pace the league-leading Hornets to their fourth straight triumph while Tommy Burlington and Earl Bartholome accounted for the Cleveland tallies.

Ken Schultz pulled Baron Goalie Harvey Teno out of position and netted the first Pittsburgh goal in the opening period. Howard Mackie scored three minutes later for the Hornets but a second period marker by Burlington cut the margin to one point.

Walton hit the net in the second frame and the Hornets blasted four quick goals past Teno in the final period to turn the contest into a rout.

The Barons battle the Providence Reds at the Arena Saturday night.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and grown-ups may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong!

Watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms in your child or yourself—especially the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch. Because now you can and should do something about it. After centuries of distress caused by Pin-Worms, a highly effective way to deal with them has been made possible. It is based on the medically recognized drug called gentian violet.

This special drug is the vital ingredient in the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

So if you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

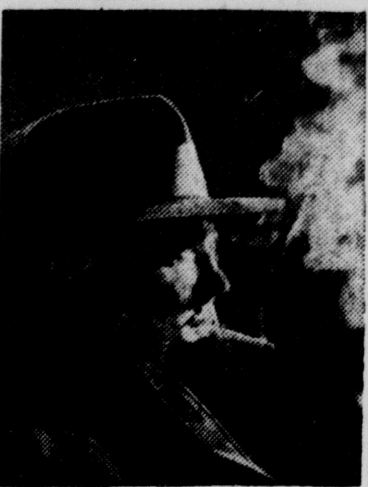

It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Peoples Federal Savings & Loan Co. office this evening to give supplies to the team captains and their workers.
